The Wheat Pool Meeting.

About fifty farmers were present Friday night in the Moose Hall when Mr. W. M. Washburn called the Wheat Pool to order. After a few remarks, he introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Bennett, who gave some interesting details of the work of the Pool. He was followed by Mr. Mackenzie.

A series of slides showing the work of the organization were shown, and these were appreciated by the audience.

A Reckless Driver Hooked

Mr C Littlechilds of Andrew was haled before Magistrate McLeod last week on three charges: Failure to keep to the right of the center of the road; being intoxicated while in charge of a car; and for being found on licenses premi-es while an interdict. He was fined $10 on the first charge; sentenced to 10 days at the Fort on second charge; and given suspended sentence on third charge. This trial was the sequence to the auto collision in which our baseball players were recently turned upside down while returning from a ball game at Fort Saskatchewan.

S. P. Agricultural Society.

A meeting of those interested in the affairs of the Stony Plain Agricultural Society will be held in the Town Hall on Tuesday Aug 12th, at 8 p.m., for the purpose of electing officers; discussing the proposal for selling of the plot of 4 acres; and disposing of the funds now in the hands of the treasurer of the society. Dr. Oatway will take the chair and a good attendance is requested when these matters of interest to the rate-payers of the town and district are up for discussion.

Something New.

Introducing a new entertainment in Canada, the Loyal Order of Moose in Edmonton will stage a "living whist drive next Tues. Evg. Aug 12, at Diamond park; followed by a dance, says the Journal. The whist drive is an actual game of cards, humans taking the place of counters; 84 Moose members have prepared costumes, each one to represent a card in the pack. The game will be played on the park, and as a "trick" is captured by the player, the person representing that particular card will shift to the victor's corner.

Cause Of Our Economic Ills

Anything and everything that will have even the slightest effect in removing causes of friction between nations on the one hand, or of promoting goodwill on the other hand, should to an ever increasing degree receive the support of every government, every organization, every individual. There is danger as we get farther and farther away from the agony of the war years, 1914-1918, and as the horrors of that grim struggle begin to fade and become indistinct in our memories, to forget just how awful war really is.

It is well, therefore, to be occasionally reminded of what the Great War continues to mean to us today, twelve years after it passed into history. Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, whose outstanding characteristics in all his public speeches is his clear incisiveness, unwavering by hysteria or undue sentiment, gave a radio talk recently in which he pleaded for world peace, and for the putting forth of every effort to attain that object.

Despite Mr. Snowden's well known pacific tendencies, he dealt only with the mere dollars and cents aspect of war as an agent of destruction. Taking the case of Great Britain, he pointed out that it had spent some 50,000 million dollars on its part in the Great War. This was apart from the loss of the wealth-producing capacity of millions of men drawn for four years from useful employment, and of course took no cognizance of the loss of life.

The war, as Mr. Snowden pointed out, left Great Britain with a debt of over thirty-five billions of dollars, the interest on which alone costs one and three-quarter billions a year. It all has to come out of taxation.

At the present rate of payment, Mr. Snowden added, it will take 140 years to wipe it out. Today the British people are raising $5,000,000 every day, $200,000 every hour, $3,000 every minute for debt purposes. It takes the whole-time labor of 2,000,000 workers year in, and year out to pay the annual cost of the nation's burden of debt. To this must be added $575,000,000 which Britain annually spends on war services, and $280,000,000 it pays yearly for war pensions, which gives a total of $2,600,000,000—$5,000 a minute,—which Great Britain has to provide for war purposes.

Such stupendous figures throw Mr. Snowden's main point into bold relief. "It passes the power of the most imaginative mind," he said, "to conceive what property and happiness could be added to the world if the resources wasted by war could have been used for the advancement of human health." But even the least imaginative mind must realize from the figures that now is the time for all good men and women the world over to ponder the folly of preparing for another war.

The great economic ill from which the world is suffering today,—and from which Canada unfortunately is not free,—could all be overcome if the huge amounts raised by taxation to pay war debts could be diverted into constructive channels, not to mention what might have been done had the enormous principal sum expended during the war itself been devoted to improving world conditions in all countries.

If the money spent waging war, by Britain alone, had, instead, been devoted to great constructive national programmes, there would have been no unemployment in Britain. Everybody would have been busy during the past twelve years, and everybody would be hard at work now. The whole standard of living in Britain would have been raised; housing and all social conditions would be on a higher plane than ever in the world's history.

And what would have been true of Great Britain would be equally true of all countries, Canada included. It is easy to thoughtlessly lay the blame for unemployment, depressed business conditions, falling markets, and sundry other ills to this cause and that cause, and to lay the blame here or there, but the basic cause is the war, and the huge burden it has imposed on all peoples and on every constructive, progressive movement that the peoples of the world, in their several countries, are anxious to carry on.

Campaigning for world peace is not a fat, nor the mere business of the idealist. It is the hardest headed business proposition confronting the world today. In its success is bound up the future welfare of every worker, every man and woman, the future of their children and children's children, indeed their very lives. Only through the achievement and maintenance of world peace can the present economic ills of the world be remedied.

A Clock That Speaks

Combination Radio and Electric Photograph Is Result Of Experiment

After considerable experimentation, an inventor has produced a clock that speaks the time. The instrument consists of a combination talking clock, radio and electric photograph all installed in a grandfather case. The clock not only speaks the hours and half hours, but also may be made to tell the time in the form of a cheerful greeting, such as "Good morning—six o'clock." The cabinet contains an electric radio receiver with dynamic speaker which is used for the talking clock voice, the radio, and the photograph reproduction.

Served Long Time

One Man Worked On Farm In England Over Half a Century

Some extraordinary farm service records were revealed by the awards to servants and laborers, in connection with the Lincolnshire Agricultural Society's annual show held at Skegness, England. In the class for servants in husbandry who have worked on the same farm for the greatest number of years, Samuel Benton, of Horncastle, aged 74, took the premier award, his record being 55½ years with Messrs. W. Crowder and Sons, of Horncastle. The second prize winner, aged 83, William Goodwin, of Rippington, South Lincoln, had 53 years' service to his credit.

It might be worse. Suppose we were born old and had to dread growing young and foolish.

Believes in the Pool

Present Low Prices No Cause For Despondency To Pool Members

In the editorial columns of the Alberta Farmer, dated July 10, 1930, reference is made to the fact that in spite of the existing depression in the wheat market, Pool members are not despondent. We quote from the editorial:

"On the contrary, when they look back to pre-Pool days they congratulate themselves that the Pool is functioning in this year of low prices. And they shiver when they think to what depths wheat prices might have gone had there been no Pool."

Pale People Are In Peril

Some Form Of Nervous Breakdown Always Threatens Them

Pale people are almost always nervous. Pale skin denotes lack of blood and too little blood usually results in jaded nerves, sleeplessness, headaches or neuritis. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are different from most other medicines—it is impossible to take them and not feel better. The whole mission is to make rich, red blood. This new blood strengthens the nerves and gives vitality to the whole body. Concerning them Mrs. G. Cook, Bloor Street, Toronto, says: "Two years ago I used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for a nervous breakdown with the result that I have been well and strong ever since."

You can get these Pills from any dealer in medicine by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

U.S. Trade Slump

Declines To Lowest Level In The Last Six Years

International trade of the United States during June declined to the lowest monthly level the country has experienced in the last six years.

Exports amounted to $229,000,000, a figure less than that of any month since July, 1924.

Imports for the last month were $255,000,000, which is lower than those recorded since January, 1922. Imports and exports for June were nothing to be desired as a worm expellant, have an invigorating effect upon the youthful system, remedying fever, listlessness, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, and other ailments that follow disorders caused by worms in the stomach and bowels.

Gems Belonging To Nobility Lost In Airplane Crash

The London Daily Express says jewels valued at $65,000 (about $325,000), were scattered over the ground near Meopham, Kent, at the time of the recent aeroplane disaster in which six persons, including three of the nobility, perished.

The jewels in question belonged to the late Viscountess Ednam and the late Mrs. Liffert, both of whom were wearing pearl necklaces and diamond brooches.

Accidental discovery of a few gems by a villager reminded friends of the dead women that they had their jewelry with them. Police are searching around Meopham in the hope of finding others.

Prices Of Livestock Reveal Remarkable Strength Compared With Other Farm Products

In the price changes that have taken place in farm products, as also in other commodities, in the last 12 months, livestock food products stand up with outstanding strength. Lambs, hogs, and cattle—in that order—are now at a much higher level relative to the value of the same products a year ago than but, wool, wheat, and barley.

Prices for farm products in Canada have changed considerably since last summer and especially during expressed as a percentage of the price existing in July, 1929, which are taken as the base of 100. The table on this page gives both the monthly prices and the percentages that each month's price for each item forms of the base price. In the chart only the percentage changes are shown.

A glance at the right hand side of the chart will make it plain that at the end of the period three items, lambs, hogs and cattle, were well above but, and far above wool,

Western Flour Mills Industry Ranks First in Manufactures in Alberta and Saskatchewan

The flour and grist mill industry ranks first among the manufactures of two of the three prairie provinces. This industry comes first in both Saskatchewan and Alberta, and second in Manitoba. First position in Manitoba is held by slaughtering and meat packing, which is third in Saskatchewan and second in Alberta. Second position in Saskatchewan is occupied by butter and cheese, which is fourth in Manitoba and fourth also in Alberta. In point of production value, flour and grist mill products in Alberta, and slaughtering and meat packing in Manitoba were almost equal in 1928, the former having a value of $21,005,000, and the latter of $21,328,000.

Creamery Butter Production In Prairie Provinces Shows Increase Over Last Year

Exhibition Grain

Grain To Be Shown At World's Grain Show May Be Grown Any Year

There still seems to be a wrong impression in some parts of Canada regarding the year in which grain for exhibit at the World's Grain Show may be grown, says a bulletin of the show executive. It is well, therefore, to repeat that there is absolutely no restriction whatever regarding the season in which grain for exhibit is grown.

It may have been or may be grown in any year. Of course, because all exhibits must be in the hands of the exhibition authorities at Regina on or before March 1, 1932, it will be impossible to grow Canadian grain for exhibition in 1932. Canadian grain for exhibit therefore, if not already grown, must be grown either this season or during the season of 1931.

The latest summary of conditions in the dairy industry by the Dairy and Cold Storage Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture affords some observations of interest:

Pasteurized butter graded during June, this year, amounted to 150,862 packages, an increase of 18,162 packages over the same period last year. For the year to date the 1930 figure at 288,511 is 8,024 packages ahead of last year.

Cheese graded during June, this year, totalled 206,178 boxes, or 17,384 boxes less than last year. The total for the year to date at 317,435 boxes is below last year, but there is an increase in the number of boxes graded "special" this year.

There was an increase of 245.06 per cent in the volume of creamery butter in storage in Canada as at June 1, 1930, over the amount in store last year on the same date; and an increase of 489.87 per cent in the volume of dairy butter in store. Creamery butter in store June 1, 1930, amounted to 10,796,828 pounds; dairy butter in store—361,935 pounds.

Cheese in store the same date amounted to 6,471,834 pounds, or 38.43 per cent less than last year.

The export of cream and milk to the United States has practically ceased since the tariff of 68 cents per imperial gallon on cream came into formerly exported is now being made effect on June 18. Much of the cream into butter.

Creamery butter production in the Prairie Provinces shows a steady increase over last year—increases during May were: Manitoba, 20.5 per cent; Saskatchewan, 7.7 per cent; and Alberta, 15.1 per cent over May of last year.

Pastures and Proteins

Work Carried Out Which Will Be Of Great Interest To Dairyman

The value of pastures depends very largely on the amount of proteins—green feed—available to the cattle using them. In this connection the studies of "close grazing" now being made by experts of the Dominion Department of Agriculture are of special interest. While still in the experimental stage the work already done holds much of interest for the dairyman. Briefly put, the object of close grazing is to provide an adequate and continuous supply of green fodder from succulent new herbage growth. This is done through the division of a suitable field area into four equal sections. While the herd grazes for a week on one section the new growth, rich in protein, is developing in the others. In this way a new pasture with three weeks growth of new herbage is regularly available.

Creates a New Record

Crop Report For British Columbia Is

British Columbia's annual crop report issued by the Department of Agriculture shows that agricultural production for the year 1929 totalled $62,632,890, which is an increase of $5,968,647 over that of the previous year and creates a new record. While this increase is due to some extent to prevailing high prices, substantial increases are noted in the volume of production of livestock, poultry products, dairy products, grains, honey, wool, hops and vegetables other than potatoes.

The canvasback duck can fly at a speed of almost 100 miles an hour.

the first half of 1930. The tendency of all classes of livestock, wheat, feed grain, butter, and wool, which are fairly representative of general farming, has been downward.

A noteworthy feature is that the price level of livestock has not dropped so much as that of other farm products and they are the only items to show seasonal strength within the last two months.

The accompanying chart shows the percentage changes in relation to each other and in each commodity. The monthly average prices as reported officially have been taken and the changes from month to month wheat, and barley in comparison with prices a year ago.

For the twelve months, therefore, it is evident that these three classes of livestock have declined less in price than other farm products and other commodities. They have shown fluctuation up and down, but their general level has been better maintained than in the other items.

If a lesson had to be pointed out it would be that meat-yielding livestock is a more productive form of farm husbandry than it is often considered. This is especially so at present with the low levels reached by grains and other feeds.

National Map Of Canada

Area Of Canada Is Greater Than That Of Europe

The area of Canada is calculated to be 3,684,723 square miles, an area greater than that of Europe. Of this area only a small fraction has been adequately mapped. The Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior, is engaged in mapping portions of the country and is issuing as rapidly as possible sheets of the National Topographic Map of Canada. During 1929 four such sheets were published, nine in 1927, eleven in 1928, and seventeen in 1929.

Beef Grading

Doing Much To Strengthen the Demand For Better Qualities Of Beef

The beef grading policy of the Dominion Livestock Branch is not only providing a real service to the Canadian consumer and producer in clearly identifying the true qualities of beef, but is also attracting attention in the British market. The Imperial Food Journal, a recognized authority on market conditions in the Old Country says: "The introduction of beef grading in Canada, whereby the two top grades are marked for the information and protection of the public, is doing much to strengthen the demand for the better qualities of beef. This should tend to promote the raising of better grades of cattle and the finishing of animals before they are sent to market." The same authority forecasts an early return to volume exports of Canadian live cattle to Britain.

Automobile Accidents

The majority of automobile accidents are directly traceable, to poor health of the drivers, according to a recent report made to the French Academy of Medicine. A commission has been appointed by the Academy to probe further into the study and exert pressure on the government to include a physical examination in the requirements for a driving license.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

British Columbia's recent lumber mission to Australia will seek co-operation of the provincial government in securing a lumber tariff preference in that dominion.

The Italian council of ministers voted an appropriation of 100,000,000 lire, or about $5,230,000, to rebuild the stricken earthquake area of Middle Shilo, Italy.

Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, woman leader of the Indian Nationalists, is said by the Daily Herald to be willing to compromise with the government somewhat short of Mahatma Gandhi's demands for independence.

The London naval treaty passed through all its stages in the House of Lords and only needed the royal assent before becoming effective. The bill gives legal support to the pact entered into at the recent London naval conference.

The visible supply of American grain at the end of July shows the following changes in bushels: Wheat increased 14,503,000; corn decreased 278,000; oats decreased 985,000; rye increased 39,000; barley increased 276,000.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald announced in the House of Commons that the government proposed to invite the leaders of the two opposition parties to nominate a representative from both Houses to participate in the round table conference on India which will be held this fall.

Great Britain's unemployment total is nearing the 2,000,000 mark, it was announced by the Ministry of Labor. The official statement said that on July 21 the number of persons out of work was 1,972,700, an increase of 32,834 in a week and $50,057 in a year.

Brandon police are looking for the person who passed an American one dollar bill off on a local hotel for $20. The bill was raised from $1 to $20 in such masterful style that the authorities are of the opinion that the country might be flooded with the bills. The work is thoroughly done and it was only when the bill had received close scrutiny at the bank that the deception was caught.

OUT DOOR LIFE CALLS FOR NOURISHING FOOD

By AMY SMITH
Well Known Domestic Science Authority

ON for a day or a month—in the car or hiking, boating, fishing—after a few hours you will find FOOD comes up as the biggest thing in the world. Scenery, yes—but such appetites!

Of course milk, and plenty of it, is essential for nourishing, appetizing food—and for campers or picnickers Borden's St. Charles Brand Evaporated Milk is by far the best choice, providing plenty of rich milk, regardless of weather conditions, rough journeys, out-of-the-way camping places—and lack of ice.

Because Evaporated Milk has half the water removed, you can rely on its extra richness, which can be utilized to take the place of eggs or butter in many kinds of cooking. For instance, an old guide, famous for his fish fries, told me that in camp he always dipped the fish in undiluted Evaporated Milk before the final coating with corn meal.

When Evaporated is to be used instead of milk in any recipe it should be diluted with an equal part of water. Remember—this simple rule and you will find it successful in your own recipes. To "cream" your coffee, use it thickening.

Speaking of Fish—
A "fry pot" is used by Canadian guides for cooking large chunks. After dipping the pieces of fish in Evaporated Milk and then in corn meal, drop into the deep fat (very hot) and fry until brown. And, by the way, take this hint from seasoned camp cooks—a very little fire of the right kind in the right place (if possible sheltered from the wind) will do the job better than a face-blistering campfire.

A savory fish chowder is always a welcome dish in camp, and it's easily made with Evaporated Milk.

Fish Chowder

Cut the fish in chunks and remove as many bones as possible. Cover the bottom of an iron pot with slices of fat salt pork and fry out part of the fat. Remove part of the pork slices, then add a layer of sliced, raw potatoes, some sliced onions and a layer of fish. Cover with pieces of hard tack biscuits and season each layer, scattering the salt, for the pork is very salty. Repeat the process until the pot is three-quarters full. Add just enough water to cover to level of the fish. Cover the pot and simmer for one or one-half hours, or until the potatoes and fish are tender. Add one tall can of Borden's St. Charles Milk. Bring just to boiling. Serve.

Easy Hot Bread

Hot corn breads to eat with the bacon, or pork and gravy, will make a huge success after a day in the open—or to begin the day.

Cornmeal Flapjacks

1 cup cornmeal.
1 cup flour.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
½ teaspoon salt.
1 cup Borden's St. Charles Milk.
½ cup water.
2 tablespoons melted fat (bacon fat may be used).

Mix and sift the dry ingredients. Add the milk, diluted with water, and beat well. Add the fat. Bake on a hot, greased griddle or frying pan. They need a little longer cooking than wheat griddle cakes.

Camp Corn Dodgers

Put one quart cornmeal into a bowl. Make a hollow in center of meal and into this put one tablespoon lard and one teaspoon salt. Pour over this equal parts Borden's St. Charles Milk and water heated to scalding point, stirring all the time until a dough is formed which can be molded with hands. Cool slightly, form into cakes and cook slowly on a well greased griddle. (The quantity of diluted milk needed depends on the kind of corn meal used.)

Lost Purse Is Found

Pocketbook Lost Eight Years Ago Is Recovered In Corn Field

A pocketbook containing $35 lost eight years ago, was recently recovered by the loser. Back in 1922 Jacob Slag, a Michigan farmer, was assisting his brother-in-law, Koen Vanden Bosch, harvest hay and lost his pocket-book. Vanden Bosch while cultivating corn in the same field spied the purse, so worn it fell apart when handled. It was carefully kept together and brought to its owner who turned it over to the United States treasury department for redemption of the currency it contained.

Faster Planes

Commercial planes of the future will have to be and are already faster to suit Lieut. Alford J. Williams, American speed ace. "If 130 or 150 miles an hour were to be the top speed we could hope for in commercial air transportation, I would suggest that the public cease to waste its time on aviation and that they hereafter look upon it as a hobby," he says.

HANNAH "A GODLY MOTHER"

Golden Text: "My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake the law of thy mother."—Proverbs 1:8.

Lesson: 1 Samuel 1:1-28; 2:1-11, 18, 3:1-15.

Devotional Reading: Luke 1:46-55.

Explanations and Comments

Hannah's Prayer For a Son, Chapter 1:9-11—Hannah and her husband Elkanah went regularly every year to the Sanctuary at Shiloh, there to worship and offer sacrifice at one of the great religious feasts, probably "The Feast of Ingathering," or "Feast of Tabernacles," which was held after the grape and olive harvest.

As was customary, after a portion of the sacrificial victim was burnt at the altar, and another portion had been given the priests, the family partook of the rest within the sanctuary precincts. But Hannah could not eat, for sad and bitter thoughts filled her mind as she contrasted her childless lot with that of Peninnah, Elkanah's other wife, who was blessed with many children. After the meal was over she presented herself before the priest, to pray to Jehovah. Her prayer was accompanied by many tears as, standing before the face towards the ark, she made her vow that if Jehovah would bless her with a boy, she would consecrate him all apart to the Lord, of which his unshaven head would be a token. The characteristic marks of the Nazirite were the refraining from wine and all intoxicating drinks, the letting the hair grow, and the avoidance of defilement by corpses.

The Answer To Prayer, 1:19, 20—Hannah returned to her home at Ramah. When she was made happy by the coming of a son, she named him Samuel, "Because I have asked him of the Lord." Hebrew scholars tell us that the word "Samuel" has no connection with the Hebrew word for "asked," and they connect the first part of the name with the Semitic root for "name," taking Samuel to mean "Name of God."

Hannah gives Her Only Son To The Lord, 1:27-28, verses 24-28—When Hannah weaned her boy, he was probably three years old, she brought him to the house of the Lord in Shiloh. She brought also an offering, as the law required for the first-born—three bullocks, a bushel of meal and a bottle of wine.

Hannah made herself known to Eli the priest by recalling the time when he had seen her praying in the sanctuary, and then she presented the boy for whom she had prayed.

BENNETT WILL PROCEED TO FORM HIS NEW CABINET

Ottawa, Ont.—A special session of parliament—probably on or before September 11—is a certainty. Carrying out his promise to the Canadian people to deal with unemployment "immediately after July 28," Premier-elect Hon. R. B. Bennett is already taking action in this direction as the first step towards the implementation of the pledges he gave during the recent campaign.

Tuesday, September 2, looms as the probable date for by-election day if any minister selected by the Conservative chieftain to serve in his administration happens to be opposed.

By-election writs will likely be issued as soon as Mr. Bennett takes office as Prime Minister, with nomination day likely set for August 18, in case any chosen minister represents a constituency in which, under the Dominion Election Act, two weeks must intervene between nomination and polling day. The majority of constituencies only require the intervention of seven days.

Probable cabinet selections are the chief topic of discussion among political observers in the capital. In addition, speakers of both the House of Commons and the Senate will have to be appointed. By reason of his ill-health, Hon. Hugh Guthrie (South Wellington), may be made speaker of the Commons, or George Black (Yukon), may be chosen. If his health, however, is considered to permit his undertaking more arduous duties, Mr. Guthrie will probably be appointed to the cabinet.

Hon. R. J. Manion (Fort William), is another very probable selection. Dr. Manion was postmaster-general in 1928. Hon. J. D. Chaplin and Hon. E. B. Ryanman are prominently mentioned for other cabinet posts.

For the province of Quebec, Sir George Perley (Argenteuil), former Canadian High Commissioner in London, Maurice Dugre, who defeated Gerard Lacroix, in Quebec West; Arthur Durand, victorious Conservative candidate in Chambly Vercheres, and Arthur Savine, former Conservative leader in the Quebec legislature, are mentioned.

Premier E. S. Rhodes, of Nova Scotia, and W. G. Ernst, elected in Queens-Lunenburg, are possible appointees from Nova Scotia; in Prince Edward Island, Hon. J. A. MacDonald or J. H. Meyers continue to be mentioned for the cabinet.

For the speakership of the senate, Hon. C. P. Beaubien, Montreal, who was joint chairman at the 1927 Winnipeg convention of Conservatives, is a possible appointee.

Want Wider Markets

British Columbia Lumbermen Look To Britain For Sale Of Products

Victoria, B.C.—Urging a greater participation in the British markets by B.C. lumber and asking that a delegation be sent to the Imperial Economic Conference in the fall to further this aim, a delegation representing the lumbermen of the province waited on Premier S. F. Tolmie recently.

The lumbermen described conditions in the province as being exceedingly unfavorable at the present time. Prices were falling and demand was shrinking. The British market was the only one which showed possibilities of expansion.

London, England.—A parliamentary committee appointed to deal with grievances of Indians in Canada, informed a delegation of Six Nations Indians from Brantford, Ont., that Rt. Hon. J. H. Chinese Pillage Homes

Communists Loot and Burn Foreign Holdings

Shanghai, China.—In the most serious devastation of foreign property in China for many years, Communists looted and burned all or nearly all foreign holdings at Changsha, capital of Hunan province.

Foreigners generally were safe aboard British, United States and Japanese gunboats, five miles down the Siang River. Four missionaries who elected to remain in the city were unaccounted for.

Changsha was divided into 50 districts for pillaging. Directed by leaders, the despoilers carried foreign effects into the street as plunder before firing the buildings. Coolies looking on were harangued by the Red leaders, and many were persuaded to join the Communist army to seize a share of property "wrongfully possessed by the upper classes."

Despatches said foreign consulates, residences and large office buildings on Shuili Island opposite the city probably would be destroyed.

Value of foreign property already burned amounted to millions of dollars. The total could not be estimated.

Change Permit System

New System Of Liquor Permits To Be Introduced In Ontario

Hamilton, Ont.—Introduction of a new system of liquor permits under the total amount of purchases will be designated in dollars and cents, was announced by Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the Liquor Control Board, at the convention here of the Chief Constables Association of Canada.

This was one of the measures definitely decided upon to curb the abuse of liquor purchasers by recognized permit holders in Ontario. Queried by a delegate, Sir Henry admitted there were faults in the present Ontario system, but he declared, "I do not think we ever will have the free sale of beer in stores or in parlours."

A dangerous criminal sought in connection with a major crime usually is safe in jail while serving a nominal vagrancy charge. This was the message brought by Chief Mort S. Wight of Windsor, in a paper advocating for police departments the privilege of taking fingerprints and photographs of persons held on charges of vagrancy.

Imperial Conference

Premier Ramsay MacDonald Says Problems Of Unprecedented Difficulties To Be Faced

London, Eng.—The Imperial Economic conference must face constitutional problems of unprecedented difficulty, Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald told a meeting of the United Kingdom Branch, Empire Parliamentary Association, in Westminster Hall, recently.

The year is going to be one of the great, deeply marked years in history, thought the premier. Whoever had the responsibilities connected with the imperial conference would only succeed by skilfully practising the art of blending lessons of the past with the outlook on the future. While believing in party government, he felt an attempt should be made to get Imperial questions considered first by all parties.

After all, he declared, the commonwealth and the nations which compose it are very much greater than any one party.

Premier Hertzog Says South Africa Has Right To Secede From British Commonwealth

Pretoria, South Africa.—Emphasizing the complete independence of South Africa and her right to secede from the British Commonwealth of Nations if she ever in the future desired to do so, Prime Minister James Barry Hertzog delivered an important speech on the eve of his departure for the Imperial Conference in London, England.

"No iota or tittle of our independence will be sacrificed," he said. "I am convinced we possess complete independence. The people of South Africa will be prepared to an ever-increasing extent to heartily maintain co-operation with Great Britain and the other Dominions. But co-operation will depend on national independence. In no circumstances may the right to secede from the British Commonwealth be taken from South Africa."

Improved Crop Conditions

Betterment During the Past Week Is Reported In Some Areas

Ottawa, Ont.—Crop conditions have improved, particularly in central Saskatchewan and Alberta, according to the weekly crop report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. In Manitoba there has been an increase in severity of stem rust infection some 10 per cent in the central and southern sections of the province having infections ranging from 30 to 75 per cent.

The report continues: Western weather since our report of July 24, has been hot, with scattered showers and some good rains. Precipitation was heaviest in southern Manitoba, in central Saskatchewan, and in central and northern Alberta over much the same territory which received beneficial rains during the previous week. The first low temperatures of the harvest season were recorded from northern and southern stations of Alberta and from Vidora, Saskatchewan.

Crop conditions show a further betterment during the week, particularly in central areas of Saskatchewan and Alberta. Frosts, sufficient to blacken potatoes, are reported by the Beaver Lodge sub-station, in the Grande Prairie district. Since from one to seven degrees of frost were recorded, some damage to grain will result, although the extent cannot be determined. With favorable weather conditions, stem rust infection shows a serious increase on the leafy, late bread wheat of Manitoba, with only slight increases on the lighter stands of Saskatchewan wheat.

The full text of the wire from the Dominion rust research laboratory at Winnipeg is as follows:

"Weather conditions were favorable for stem rust development in past week. Decided increase in severity of infection do common wheat throughout Manitoba. Some heavy stands in central and southern Manitoba have infections ranging in severity from thirty to seventy-five per cent. Injury already apparent in certain fields of this area. Light stands much less affected. Some fields of early variety ready to cut in about a week. Only traces rust on Durum wheat. Stem rust increasing on barley, severity now ranges five to twenty-five per cent. No decided change reported in rust situation of north-eastern Saskatchewan on July 25. In south-eastern Saskatchewan rust has increased with severity of infection ranging from one to six per cent. on wheat and barley and pastures appearing on necks of plants. Leaf rust found on wheat in Alberta, but no stem rust yet reported."

NATIONAL WORKS GO ON UNDER NEW GOVERNMENT

Ottawa, Ont.—The tide of party success ebbs and flows but the great national undertakings of this Dominion go on. Several governments have come and gone, since the work was first started on the Welland ship canal. It was to be had been officially opened on July 1, with a Liberal ministry directing. This formal ceremony had to be put off and now a Conservative government will be in office for this historic event. It is not expected the date for the opening will be fixed for some time.

In the case of the Hudson Bay Railway, the driving of the last spike was planned for last fall but these plans were changed. It was decided to have the celebration on the occasion of the opening of the ocean route rather than at the completion of the railways, so it will likely be next year. Therefore, the new government will officiate at the completion of these works started many governments ago.

The probability is that the new ministry's greatest undertaking will be the St. Lawrence River deep waterways. This prospect makes the portfolio of Minister of Railways and Canals one of the most important in the government, even more because of the canals than the railways. That is why many people in this city are expecting Premier Howard Ferguson to be the one selected to fill that position.

It is interesting to trace the lives of governments along such works as the Welland ship canal or the Hudson Bay Railway. The first contracts for the railway were let by Rt. Hon. George F. Gahan as Minister of Railways and Canals in the Laurier Government, in 1910. This was for one section. Then the government of Sir Robert Borden came into office and the contracts for two other sections were let by the Conservatives. Nelson was then the objective.

Work proceeded through the Conservative tenure of office and into the time of the Unionist regime. It was discontinued in 1915 because of the stress of the war. The government of Mr. Meighen came after that, and in 1921 the government of Mr. King took office. In 1926 the project was shifted from Nelson to Churchill, and the railway to that point was completed last year. The port construction and the aids to navigation are in course of construction.

The work on the Welland Canal was started under the Borden government, in 1913, and continued until the war stopped it in 1917. It was started again under the Unionist government late in 1918 and has been continued ever since.

Regina, Sask.—An increase in prices over those paid for the same period in 1929 is noted in the final payment of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Poultry Producers Ltd. The prices being paid are: Extras, 22 cents; first, 19 cents; seconds, 17 cents, and crax, 15 cents. They are net cash, f.o.b. shipping point on freight shipments.

The driver of a local car was in a slight trepidation for a few days last week. He had been in the City on a day when a red tag sale was on at a Jasper av. store, and had a red tag stuck in his steering wheel. While the Canadian Chamber of Commerce is completing plans for its official tour of China and Japan, leaving Vancouver October 10, the Empress of Russia, an important group of Japanese manufacturers and merchants is due to arrive at the same port July 25 on board the Empress of Canada for a tour of Canada and the United States.

To remove the prejudices of men, women want to be regarded as their partners and to be rewarded on merit regardless of sex is the view of Miss Helen Cleveland, of Toronto, holder of a "man's" job with an internationally known bond house and recently elected president of Zonta International at the 10th annual meeting of this worldwide women's organization. With forty members of that body she is taking the Alaska trip aboard S.S. Princess Louise.

CHAPTER XXIII

If there had been any doubt that Wickfield would accept Doctor Howe's assistant, it was dispelled when he successfully removed Diantha Moore's appendix.

"And no wonder," the old doctor said to Grandma, a week after the operation. "There wasn't time to take the child to the hospital. There wasn't even time to get a nurse. It's no easy thing to perform an operation under such circumstances. I felt like cursing the deacon for his parsimony in not having had his house wired for electric lights, but I'll say for Lucille that her lamp chimneys shone like nothing before seen in heaven or on earth! And somehow, we did the job. The first week's past and no complications have arisen except Edgar! He asked me tonight if they couldn't get along without the nurse we got from Portland the next morning."

"I presume that poor Lucille will never hear the last of the expense," sighed Grandma, "but I shan't waste too much pity on her because she put her head into the noose with her eyes open. Well, Edward, it's a long time since I've seen you to have a talk. With a doctor right in the house I haven't bothered you when I had an ache or pain—not that I'll ever feel the same to any doctor that I do to you," she added loyally.

The old man smiled. "I'm only a habit, Polly," he reminded her. "You can trust John Carter, take my word for it. It's going to be easier leaving you all when my good times, knowing you're in my good hands. It was a fortunate day for me when I brought him here."

"And fortunate for us, too, Edward. I don't know how we've managed without him to tend the furnace now Charnian's away all day. But you mustn't talk about leaving us. Whether we send for you or not, it's a comfort to know you're here. Maybe I'll go first, Edward, and be on hand to greet you in the heavenly kingdom."

"Perhaps you will," the doctor admitted, smiling, "but I hope not, Polly. I'd rather know that you were down here keeping watch over Wickfield from this window, and making a home for that dear girl of ours. I'd hoped to see her settled before I go, with some good fellow to take care of her. I had a method in my madness when I sent John Carter to board here; but as far as I know my hopes have borne no fruit!"

"I don't mind admitting to you," responded Grandma, "that some such notion has occurred to me. They're congenial, and though he doesn't look over and above husky, I guess Charnian's strong enough to make up for anything he lacks. He's got a good disposition, and he's not fussy about his food. He's good to look at, too; but between you and me, Edward, I don't know what's keeping 'em apart unless it's Jimmy Bennett."

The doctor glanced up in surprise. "I had an idea that all that was settled before Jim went to California."

"Then you guessed wrong," replied Grandma with decision. "What made you think so?"

"Something Jim said to me before he went. I thought that was what reconciled him to leaving Wickfield. Well, it's possible that I'm understood; and I'm not rooting for my young doctor if it's going to hurt Jim Bennett, Polly; you can bank on that. I never knew a finer, clearer chap than Jim."

"Well," said Grandma, "I suppose these young folks will have to settle it themselves. Edward! The best meaning friends and relatives are not much use at such a time. But it looks to me as if Jim was destined to spend his life picking peaches for his mother."

"I'd rather he picked one for himself," said the old man whimsically. "As Edgar Purdie is fond of quoting: 'It is not good for man to live alone, and no one realizes that truth better than I; I've had a happy time and I hope a useful one; but I never come in after the day's work that I don't wonder how it would seem if Kate were there to greet me. No, I don't want either of those boys to live as I have.'"

"You'll come again soon?" asked Grandma wistfully, as her old friend picked up his shabby bag, and prepared to leave.

"Yes, I'll drop in often. From now on I'm going to take things easier and see more of the folks I really care for. Good-night, Polly. Give my love to Charnian."

He was as good as his word. As the relentless New England winter gave way to warmer days, Charnian became accustomed to finding the old doctor sitting with Grandma when she returned from school. Yet he had not given up his work by any means. There were still some who would have none of the younger man while they could get the old; there were others to whom his very presence meant so much that he could not forsake him; and there were the poor and lonely who needed no medicine save his cheery greeting.

Spring was coming. Its breath was in the air despite patches of snow that lingered tenaciously in shady places.

"I'm filled with a longing to clean house," said Charnian, coming in from the old folk one afternoon.

"Pussy willows are out, though I thought they'd never come; and the frogs are peeping."

She stooped to kiss her grandmother, and when the doctor said, "Haven't you another of those to spare, child?" she kissed him, too.

"You're to have supper with us, Doctor," she commanded. "We'll have a party—you and Grandma, and Doctor John and I. I've simply got to do something to celebrate the return of spring. I feel as if I could hardly wait for the first May Bower!"

"I'll stay," said the doctor. "Only don't make company of me, my dear."

"I want to make company of you," laughed Charnian. "I feel exactly like company. I shall get out the gold-banded china and use the Davis teapot though it's far too large. Here's John. If he's not too busy I'll make him help."

To judge from the voices and laughter issuing from the kitchen a bit later, the young man was not too busy to whip cream. Charnian mixed up some biscuits. She arranged her pussy willows as a centerpiece, and got out the very last of Grandma's precious damask to grace the board. It was a gay little supper. The old folks recalled the past to their hearts' content, while the young folks listened and laughed and sympathized. The young people did their share of the talking, too; and their audience was fully as sympathetic. Even a telephone call to South Wickfield for Doctor Howe, did not mar the party.

"At least," said Charnian, "they let you finish supper!"

"And I'll give you as chauffeur," declared John Carter, as the old man arose.

The doctor smiled happily at them all, and said: "I've had a beautiful time. Good-night, Polly! He stooped and with old-time gallantry kissed Grandma's hand; then turned to Charnian and kissed her cheek.

"There are compensations for being over seventy," sighed John Carter, and they all laughed.

"Good-night," said the old doctor again as he reached the door. "Sweet dreams to both of you."

Afterwards they remembered that he had stood for an appreciable moment looking back into the room, as if to impress the scene upon his memory. And that night, his day's work and his house in order, the old man crossed the River, so gently, so peacefully, that he did not even know he had embarked.

CHAPTER XXIV

Grandma sat at the window, looking out at a strangely deserted Main Street—waiting.

All Wickfield, she thought, must be at the church, paying the last tribute of respect and love to the old physician. The bank was closed; and the schools, also. Charnian had begged to stay at home so that his grand mother need not be alone at this sad time; and Lizzie Baker had done likewise, the tears straggling unnoticed down her cheeks as she implored: "Please let me. You mustn't stay here by yourself."

Salina Knowles had said: "I'll stay with you, Grandma. The doctor wouldn't want you to be alone."

But Grandma, refusing all these kindly offers, had replied gently: "I'd rather be alone, if you don't mind. It's what I want."

"Do Not Hesitate to Try It"

"Your Vegetable Compound is a good medicine. Anyone who is in poor health should not hesitate to try it. When I was taking the Vegetable Compound I tried the sample Liver Pills I found in the package. I have taken them every night since and I can feel myself improving. I am so thankful for the good they do me that I have told several women about it."

Mrs. G. W. Postill, 263 Huron St., Stratford, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Small text: "Prepared by Lydia E. Pinkham, Lowell, Mass., U.S.A."

Doubtfully, sorrowfully, they had turned away, to be reassured by the young doctor, who, even more than Charnian, understood the old lady's mood.

"Don't you see," he explained at sight of their troubled faces, "it'll be easier for her with no one by? She's not even as sad and stout as we are. She knows that her old friend is not dead—he is 'just away.' Leave her alone."

So Grandma sat at the window, waiting.

"It's the sort of day that Edward always loved," she mused. "Spring in the air, and summer on the way. And he went just as he hoped he'd go. I remember he said only the other day, 'And may there be no sadness of farewell, when I embark.' He got what he deserved, a peaceful ending to a useful life. . . . What more could a body ask? . . . He's with his Kate, whom he loved and mourned for fifty years. . . . Maybe he's seen Father already, and told him how I sit by the window all day long watching the passing . . . and about Charnian, and the neighbors. . . ."

For a moment she closed her eyes. Then the song of a bird in the elm tree broke the stillness, and she said softly: "The services must be 'most over now. . . . He told Mr. Merry once to make 'em short—for him. Just the Lord's prayer (he wanted every one to join in it, he said), and for Mr. Merry to read 'Crossing the Bar' and with more. . . . Yes, it must be over now. . . . Yes—they're coming. . . ."

In Memory Of Canadian Poet

Memorial Erected To Bliss Carman In Fredericton, N.B.

The house in Fredericton, N.B., where Bliss Carman, noted Canadian poet, was born, has been memorialized. A bronze tablet on the front of the house was recently unveiled. The inscription on the tablet reads:

"In this house Bliss Carman, Canadian bard and internationally noted poet, 1861-1929. This tablet is erected by the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire in New Brunswick. Earth of my mother earth, spirit to Thee."

In this first memorial erected to Bliss Carman, who died in Connecticut, June 8, 1929, and whose remains were brought to his native place by the Government of New Brunswick and buried at Forest Hill Cemetery, Fredericton, where a suitable monument will mark his grave. It is proposed to erect a statue of this famous son of New Brunswick in the capital of his native province and the city where he spent his boyhood days.

Mysterious Fossil Bones

Many Queer Catches Made By North Sea Fishermen

The barnacled tusk of a mammoth found in the nest of a Grimby trawler, is but the latest of many queer catches made by North Sea fishermen. Not a few of the fishermen's gardens along the Norfolk coast are ornamented with fossil bones of the cave bear, elk, bison, rhinoceros, and mammoth, brought up at various times by the trawls, chiefly in certain regions about fifteen miles off Grimby, sometimes called "the graveyard" or "the silver pits." Geologists suggest that the remains come from what was in prehistoric times the valley of the Rhine.

Work For Unemployed

Preliminary survey of the northern part of Saskatchewan, in connection with the provincial government scheme toward solution of unemployment, has been completed, said Hon. J. A. It has been decided 50 men may now be employed in cutting away dead and burned wood.

A Local Truck Stolen

Roy Alton reported to the Edmonton police that a Chevrolet delivery truck owned by him, license No. 11947, was stolen from in front of 11306 94th Street early on Monday morning.

On receipt of the bad news, Mr. Michael got in touch with Chief Shute, who, in a short time, had the thief apprehended at Vegreville. He was heading for the harvest fields in Saskatchewan, and chose this way as an economical means of transportation. Mr. Alton left for Vegreville, where the culprit will be tried.

Wather League Summer Camp

During the past week the Lutheran Wather League's Summer Camp was held at Edmonton Beach. Leaders from Calgary, Edmonton, Bruderheim, Brightview, Stony Plain were in attendance.

Articles of the Augsburg Confession formed the basis of a series of Bible lessons. Rev. G. H. Baedeker, of Camrose, led in the Bible study.

"Marching Orders" formed the basis of a series of Mission studies. The daily discussion periods in Mission study and Wather League Methodists were led by Rev. H. J. Boettcher of Grace Church, Edmonton.

The weather favored the Conference with splendid beach weather; a full program of swimming, fishing and boating could be carried out.

Tues. Evg. a special inspirational service was held at Barrie's pavilion, in which Prof. Guebert, Edmonton, delivered the sermon. Thursday Evg. a lantern lecture, "China in Transition" was given at the same place. These gatherings were attended by Beachers generally.

Mr. Val Kulak, of Stony, managed the camp. Rev. H. J. Boettcher, Edmonton, acted as the dean.

Capt. McIsaacs Leaves.

Another good sport passed from our midst last week in the person of Jac McIsaacs, who left for a larger sphere of usefulness. Since his advent here Jac has been in the forefront of most every sporting event, his energy being put forth in practically all lines.

Jac had been an aviator when the big war was on; and, as is natural to those who had been engaged in that profession, speed was his obsession. Early in the season he rigged up what is vulgarly called a "bug" by combining on the ordinary chassis a few speed-up inventions of his own. This was as successful that the local half-mile track proved too small to the Blue Spider justice when the mechanician wished to push the machine to the limit. This was taken to a larger track for a tryout, and is said to have been sold at a good figure to a speed fan.

Jac's urge for speed found expression later, when he built a speed boat on the lines of the Bermuda plunger, which when it was undergoing tests on Beach Lake, it scared the finny tribe so badly he was forced to relinquish the trials. On leaving here, he sold the engine, took the boat apart and packed it in his trunk.

Altho Jac left here for Calgary, and will probably go East, there seems to be nothing to the story that he intended re-joining the R. A. F.

Cutting Down Travel Time

No matter how anxious travellers may be to spin out their holiday to the ultimate minute they always manifest a certain amount of impatience when once they have left their ship and the formalities of Customs inspection necessitate a slight delay on the pier.

To overcome this the Canadian Customs at Montreal and the Canadian Pacific Steamships are co-operating in a new service to incoming passengers. On the four palatial 20,000-ton Duchess liners—Duchess of Athol, Duchess of Bedford, Duchess of Richmond, and Duchess of York, the largest liners to sail direct to Montreal, Customs officers, baggage checkers, and porters board the ship at Quebec.

Customs examination of heavy luggage is carried out on the ship during the 16-hour voyage from Quebec to Montreal; baggage is checked through to its destination and the passenger is enabled to walk off the ship, pause but a moment while hand-baggage is locked over, and proceed direct to the waiting train.

Photos show scenes at the inauguration of the new service on the Duchess of Richmond recently. Invoice in hand the fair traveller is telling the inspector how much the package cost. The honeymooners, customs inspection over, are checking their trunk—judging by the heads of the tickets they must be going to Banff, at least.
